

AP Research Summer Assignment 2019

Goal of Assignment:

The AP Research summer assignment is designed to help you further the process of finding a gap in your topic of interest, and identify a method for your own research.

This assignment is due on the first day of school. Adhering to that deadline will keep you on track for the successful completion of a 20-page paper and 20-minute presentation in April.

Assignment:

1. The Annotated Bibliography

- Read, highlight, and annotate an additional four peer-reviewed journal articles. (You have already done three of these in class.)
- Create an annotated bibliography entry for each. Make sure to note the method the researchers used to gather data, and why they chose that method.
- Incorporate these new entries into the existing annotated bibliography begun at the end of the school year. Alphabetize the entries. Indicate through highlighting which entries are new.
- Use APA style to create the bibliography.

2. The Research Question

- Reflect on the information from your peer-reviewed articles. Can you identify a gap in the research? Perhaps the original research targeted college students, and you can survey high schoolers. Or maybe the original research took place in a city, and you can pass out questionnaires to a suburban population. Can you survey a different gender? Age?
- Formulate an initial research question that addresses this gap.
Keep in mind: Is it feasible?

3. The Research Method

- Write one paragraph about your proposed research method:
 - What method will you use? (survey, focus group, interviews, etc.)
 - Why have you chosen this method? (In many cases, you will use the same method utilized in your articles. Explain why those researchers chose the method that they used.)
 - Who or what you will question/examine?
 - What potential IRB (Internal Review Board) issues might you face?

IMPORTANT DATES

AP Research teacher available via email MacArthur: mtonn@levittownschools.com dfriedman@levittownschools.com	Tuesday, July 30st from 10-12 am Tuesday, August 27th from 10-12 am
Assignment (annotated articles plus typed information) is due on the first day of school, and will count as a test grade. Late assignments will lose points.	Wednesday, September 4th, 2019