About Us

Levittown Public Schools, located in central Nassau County, serves the communities of Levittown, Seaford and Wantagh. Born in America's first modern suburb, the district has grown from its postwar roots into a diverse community that celebrates a wide range of cultures, backgrounds and perspectives. This transformation is reflected in the district's inclusive, forward-thinking approach to education. The district is recognized for its strong K-12 programs, offering robust academic, career, special education and extracurricular opportunities that prepare students for success in any post-secondary path.
